EMERICKVILLE.

Death of Chas. Wetzel—The Pedagogue and the Rabbit—Personal Notes.

Another of Pinecreek township's pioneer residents is added to the necrological record and a peaceful and happy home is bereaved of a loving husband, father and friend. Charles Wetzel, of this place, well known throughout this section, passed into the land of eternal rest last Wednesday morning, Nov. 8th, 1899. He was born in Schuylkill county, 1833, coming to this place when a boy. In 1858 he was united in marriage to Elizabeth Cable and afterwards settled down on the farm where he died. Mr. and Mrs. Wetzel toiled together when dense wilderness surrounded their home, and prospered awarded their efforts. They cleared land and made a bright and comfortable home and they were blessed with four children, one having passed on before and three survive, William, Charles and Mrs. A. G. Dinger, all of whom stood at the bedside when the pale horse and its rider came. Mr. Wetzel was a man held in highest esteem by all. Gentle and kind, he was loved by young and old, and his demise was deeply regretted. For 23 years the citizens of Pinecreek township elected him tax collector. This speaks for itself as to his honest dealing between his fellow-men, never distressing one family in all this time for taxes. He became very popular in this section as a log scaler and for many years done the measuring on the bell timber lands. He was an active member of the P. O. S. of A. of this place, which order held services at the funeral. The funeral was held on Friday, November 10th. Services in the Lutheran church conducted by Rev. James H. Jelbart, of Johnsonburg. A touching and effective sermon was preached over the remains of the departed one. Many were the tears that were shed in the little church that was crowded to the doors. The remains were followed to the last resting place by an exceptionally large number of relatives and friends and interment was made in the family lot in the Lutheran cemetery.

Mrs. Emanuel Koher, who was found dead in bed at her home in Bell's Mills Saturday morning, Nov. 4th, was brought here Tuesday afternoon and interred in the Lutheran cemetery.

Peter Emerick was at Oliveburg Thursday and brought home with him a house keeper.

Mrs. Chas. Burkhouse is on the sick list.

Charley Schultze, salesman for the Home Pride range was hustling in this section last week and placed a range in the following homes: Mrs. McAninch and David Moore.

Norman Schugars was confined to the house a few days last week with a sore neck.

Mrs. Ben Reymier is on the sick list the present week.

The Baum school teacher was seen going through the village one night last week seemingly very much excited. It was learned afterwards that the Prof. had finally succeeded in killing a rabbit. It is not clearly known whether the rabbit met death through exhaustion by a foot race or scared to death by the crack of the gun, but however the rabbit had no marks.

The footbridge that spans Mill Creek below Nolp is reported unsafe and the supervisors are repairing it the present week.

Mr. M. Glenn Swartz, of Steubenville, Ohio, spent a few days in this place last week and it looks very much from the road as if this popular young news agent was fixing matters up for the future.

John Kitchen and wife, of Knox township, were the guests of C. B. Wetzel and wife Sunday.

Adam Welder and wife, of Big Run, spent Sunday with the latter's parents in this place Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

The A. V. company is putting in a stubb switch at the water plug below Iowa for the purpose of loading fire clay. The siding formerly used for that purpose will hereafter be used for a passenger siding.

Henderson, of New York, and Cora Britton, of Elk county.

FARLAND, The Wonderful Banjo Artist.

ALFRED A. FARLAND, of New York City, the Greatest Banjo Artist That has Ever Lived, will appear in the Opera House at Reynoldsville

MONDAY EVE., NOV. 20.

Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store.

"A man with a banjo held 700 people almost breathless at the Academy of Music last night. He played a cradle song. The low, sweet voice of the mother rose and fell and died away as the cradle ceased rocking. He played three movements from Beethoven's third sonata. Could it be that it was only a banjo he was playing? A 'Gypsy Rondo' by Haydn, then the plaintive strains of 'My Old Kentucky Home' and Schubert's serenade. These were followed by a mixture of popular and classic music, including Paderewski's familiar minuet, the Miserere from 'Il Trovatore,' variations on 'Auld Lang Syne,' a Chopin nocturne and the allegro movement from Mendelssohn's concerto, Opus 64. To hear Alfred Farland play the banjo is to realize the power of genius in art. He was enthusiastically received.—Kansas City Star, Jan. 18, 1898.

Alfred A. Farland has shown himself to be far ahead of any banjo player now known to the public. We have as yet met no man who can duplicate Farland's performance on the banjo. No man ever played the banjo as Farland plays it.—Stewart's Banjo and Guitar Journal.
